PEELLE FAMILY GENEALOGY

Descendents of John and Lydia Bundy Peelle in Clinton Co., Ohio. Married Dec. 2, 1807.

Printings

1929 —Bound volume with pictures and information as to characteristics and activities of the early Peelles.

1938—Supplement

1941 —Small bound book for the 50th Reunion.

1948—Three sheets.

1959—

This printing is intended to bring this list up to date, with the inclusion of the more than 1200 direct descendents and their families.

All members are asked to send any corrections and omissions to Miss Alice Mills, 343 N.
Lincoln St., Wilmington, Ohio. Also it is suggested that current addresses be sent that a complete list will always be on hand.

The privilege of preparing these printings has been enjoyed and appreciated. We know they are not correct and that much information has not been received. We hope the next persons to compile this list will get it more correct.

THE FOLLOWING CORRECTIONS AND ADDITIONS ARE FOR

"THE PEELLE FAMILY OF CLINTON COUNTY"

Published in 1959 by Mr. and Mrs. Garnett P. January

This Supplement includes all data received prior to August 1, 1961. Data received after that date will be kept on file and will be included in the next Supplement.

Please number the pages 1 to 33 in your copy of the 1959 book. The corrections and additions will be directed to material found on these numbered pages.

For your convenience in locating the families of the Fourth Generation, the number of the head of the family will be inserted.

EXAMPLE:

(1) Insert 13-50 LeRoy, before Emery F. Peelle

(2) Insert 13-52 John William, before Weldon L.

SYMBOLS USED: --

inst: = insert bf = before af = after

c = correction
sp = spelling

Thanks to those who so promptly complied with the request for forwarding corrections and new data for "The Peelle Family of Clinton County." No doubt there is much lacking to complete fully the genealogy but further information was not sent to me.

GENEALOGY OF JOHN PEELLE

1. JOHN PEELLE migrated to Ohio in 1807. The earliest records we have found of the Peelle family in America are in the records of the Friend's meetings in North Carolina. In 1833 the parents of John Peelle, Reuben and Rhoda Pearson Peelle, transferred their membership from the meeting at New Garden, N.C. to Dover Monthly Meeting in Clinton Co. Ohio. John was their oldest son, born in Wayne Co. N.C. and had moved to Ohio some years before.

Grandmother Rhoda was very active and an industrious person. She practiced "midwifery" in the pioneer settlements in this part of Ohio although much other time was given to caring for her husband who was an invalid for many years. While in the midst of serving others, she was stricken with paralysis and is quoted as saying, "My time has come to go hence to give an account of the deeds done in the body and I am ready". They are buried in the old Grassy Run graveyard north of Bloomington.

The Library of Congress contains several volumes of biography and genealogy of Robert Peel, of Peel Fold, Lancastershire, England. He was a cotton manufacturer and his grandson was dedicated at birth by his father to the work of the nation and became the celebrated statesman, Sir Robert Peel. The crest of the Peel family in England is a shield with a combination of bees and arrows and the word "Industry". A biographer says "This the crime of Sir Robert Peel was that he could not be bound within the confines of a party, he could not be bound by our timid traditions, he was too courageous, and he was too constructive". The genealogy does not show the descendants of several members of the family who could have been the ones who migrated to America and became the founder or founders of the Peelle family. No direct connection has yet been found and no record of why the spelling of the name was changed.

John Peelle when 24 years old took what was then considered a long and perilous journey into the wilderness of Ohio and Indiana. On his second trip into Belmont Co. Ohio, he and Lydia Bundy were married according to Friend's ceremony. Soon after their marriage they moved to Highland Co., then to Greene and later to Clinton where he purchased for $3.25 per acre the land long known as the Mark Peelle farm of the Peelle Homestead. They attended faithfully the meetings of the church and both the church and graveyard are located on this land.

Lydia was considered a well educated woman, being one of the few in the community who could read and write. The seven children of this union all married and lived within a distance

2. that their father could walk and visit all of them within a day. His grandson, Reuben Peelle, says of him in a History of Clinton Co. published in 1882, "He was a devotee of the arts of Nimrod and Isaac Walton. After he passed four score years he was often seen in the early morning hours making his way at a rapid pace across farms and fences with rod on shoulder, in a bee line for the place he knew to be the resort of cat or perch".

The characteristics of these seven children have been written from comments made by various ones who knew them through many years.

WILLIAM was a lover of horses and the teamster of the family for the family and the community. He was always active in the work of the church and rarely missed a session of Indiana Yearly Meeting. In his later years he gave much attention to the development of better fruits and grains.

REUBEN was the farmer of the family and a man of unusual physique, his arms and shoulders made powerful through the use of ax and maul. He was noted for his calm, good judgment and his counsel was often sought.

MARY was often called to serve with her talent as nurse in which she was proficient. With her husband, Isaac Pearson she did much to make life easy for others.

RHODA was renowned for her good cooking and for her love of family as well as her interest in genealogy and in the affairs of the world. Her joy was to make a home haven for those in need. Her married life with Jonathan Mills extended over sixty one eventful years and he reached the age of one hundred and three.

EMMA was recognized as a home-maker and her hospitality and talents in that capacity extended beyond her own large family. She boasted in her later years that she had never spent a dollar to go anywhere and had never been on a train.

MARK was the business man and was always posted on the affairs of the day. He bought and sold several farms besides those on which his children settled. He was often called upon to write wills and other legal documents. His wife, Mary Ellen, was always his loyal support in all his work. She was broad in her thought and interest and after her seventieth birthday visited both the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans and ten years later enjoyed the Yearly Meeting in Philadelphia.

LYDIA, the youngest had a keen sense of humor which helped her in her short life to bring joy to many.

3. Thus in this listing of the descendants of these rugged pioneers we find their qualities expressed through even the 3rd and 4th generations. We find them serving with both hand and heart. All are and have been interested in education and in affairs of religious and community value. Many have served in positions of trust. Most of them have kept their affiliations with the Society of Friends and have married into the same faith. Those who married into the family from outside have usually become identified with Friends, and have often been exceedingly valuable additions to family and church life.

The foregoing material on the Peelle Family was presented to The Clinton County Historical Society by Miss Clara Peelle, Wilmington, Ohio 1961.
